Although only 30 years old, Andrés Amarilla is celebrating 20 years dancing tango in 2007. As a child and teenager, Andrés studied with and performed in the dance companies of legends Gustavo Naveira, Juan Carlos Copes and Rodolfo Dinzel. As a young adult, he participated in the creation of nuevo tango in closed rehearsals organized by Fabian Salas and attended by Gustavo Naveira, Chicho Frumboli, Mauricio Castro, Milo Quadros Smith, and other international stars. Andrés has performed over 70 times at Buenos Aires milongas, including 20 performances with the legendary Geraldine Rojas.

Andrés launched his international career in 2006, leaving students in 19 cities marveling at his ability to make the most complex concepts and movements accessible – even easy. Equally versed in traditional and nuevo tango, Andrés teaches a solid, consistent movement technique that works for any step, from the simplest walk to the cross, to the most challenging colgada. And by sharing the tools and perspective necessary to unlock tango's many challenges, Andrés helps dancers maximize their skills, expand their insight, and propel their tango to all new levels of finesse, creativity and enjoyment.

In 2007, Andrés will teach on three continents and reach students in over 20 tango communities, including Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Belo Horizonte (Brazil), Nicosia (South Cyprus), Ercan (North Cyprus), Istanbul, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and many more. While Andrés will be teaching on his own in Southern California this winter, he will tour the rest of the year with his partner and wife, Meredith Klein.
